claimed that the Japanese had "detected the attempt to do so" and had "acted accordingly."

Nimitz' communique had nothing to say concerning a Chungking radio report that American and Japanese naval vessels engaged in a nine-hour naval battle Jan. 23 in the East China sea.

In addition to the huge toll of destruction inflicted on enemy shipping in the Formosa-Rukyu area, the communique reported that 389 Japanese planes were either destroyed or damaged by the American forces in their two-day strike, January 20-21.

A Pacific fleet communique, disclosing preliminary reports of the strike at Formosa, last week said that 60,000 tons of enemy shipping, including six oil tankers, four medium cargo vessels, two coastal cargo ships and four larger craft, were sunk and an additional 65,000 tons were damaged.

American losses were listed by Adm. Nimitz as 15 aircraft destroyed in the two-day operation. He previously had announced that "one of our major ships" was damaged in the Formosa strike.

On top of enumerated Japanese shipping and aircraft losses, widespread destruction was inflicted on enemy installations including the naval base at Takao, on the southwestern coast of Formosa, and bases in the neighboring Pescadore islands.

and wheelbarrows of household goods line the roads for miles east and west of Berlin, the Daily Express reported declared. Hundreds, including children, are dropping along the highways, while troops have been called into the capital to clear the railroad stations and maintain order.

Mourning Tension

With funeral equipment requisitioned by the army, the people can bury their dead only after first making the coffin and digging a grave in the frozen ground.

Mourning tension in the Reich capital, where large numbers of Volksturm troops are reported deserting and where little medical treatment is available to suffering refugees, has led to demonstrations against the war and against the authorities.

The Ankara radio reported 100 casualties resulted from a recent aerial clash in the city.

The Brussels radio reported riots throughout the Reich, with food riots in Halle and Frankfurt suppressed by police and SS troops. In Leipzig thousands of women stormed the Volksturm barracks to protest an order sending home guard troops to the front.

Many women were killed when SS troops fired into the crowd, the broadcast said.

"I am of the opinion that the president was without authority either under the War Labor disputes act or under the war powers conferred upon him as commander in chief of the army and navy to take possession of the plants and facilities of Montgomery Ward & Co."

Victory in the upper courts would mean that the 16 company properties in Chicago and six other cities seized by the army last Dec. 28 would be returned to control of company executives and the army would move out.

"Whatever they blow now, we can rebuild and rebuild fast—nearly everything we had when we came is still intact."

Sverdrup disclosed that nearly a thousand tons of war cargo is being carried daily on American operated railroads between Lingayen and the most advanced United States forces and predicted that there will be a steady increase in the rail networks lifting capacity.

The skillful St. Louis, Mo., engineer who has been with MacArthur since the earliest days of Pacific campaigning said that it was originally believed that land gasoline pipelines would have to be laid between Lingayen and the forward moving troops to supply fuel for mechanized units but "so far the railroad has been able to lift all and more than we need" and the hard pipeline project has been cancelled.

Restraining Optimism

The Russian thrusts into Germany's eastern defenses have been so successful in the initial stages that the American people are again stimulated to glowing optimism. They know that the Russian offensive has been long in preparation, that the Russians had the advantage of a choice of time and place, and that Germany's power of defense has been steadily reduced.

Factors which more conservative observers are not overlooking suggest less optimistic conclusions. The German propaganda of fear of annihilation should be heavily discounted. It is pitched to fan the fire of fanaticism in the Nazis and at the same time to arouse in Allied soldiers the thoughts of self-preservation which always creep into the morale of armies as they believe they see victory and peace just ahead.

The Allied rebound against the German counteroffensive in the West is powerful and aggressive, but it is not the great offensive which was all but launched when Von Rundstedt struck.

A number of experts have said that the German policy on the Italian front is the key to German grand strategy. They believe that when the German elect to make their last stand for a negotiated peace it will be with the divisions from the Italian front drawn back into Germany.

Weather is another element to watch. If Germany is not beaten before spring thaws, so much heavy motorized equipment will be immobilized for a few weeks that a decision can hardly be reached before late spring or early summer.

The United Nations are closing in. They can not be stopped. But the commanders of their armies have earned the right to civilian judgment of their efforts in the light of cool reason.

Unusual Twist

In recent weeks there has been an unusual twist to Nazi propaganda as broadcast by the Berlin radio. On many occasions developments in the European theater have been linked with those in the Pacific.

The Russian drive was spoken of in the same breath with General MacArthur's invasion of the Philippines. Previously, in boasting of success of Von Rundstedt's counter-offensive on the Western Front, Berlin took occasion to say American forces on Leyte were soon to be wiped out, thus predicting wholesale victory for the Axis on both theaters.

Now German and Japanese reverses are being summarized in single broadcasts, to just what purpose is not quite understood in Allied circles. The hope may be to spur further resistance by the German people, with the intimation that defeat of Japan would bring all Allied resources pouring in against them. The reverse would be true for Japan.

Although engaged in a common cause, as would-be conquerors of the world, war policies of Germany and Japan never have been coordinated. There has been only an exchange of sympathies. Neither has helped the other in a material way. If they were to find satisfaction in common victory, they may expect disappointment in common defeat. This is hinted by the unusual twist to Berlin broadcasts.

Synthetic Report

The United States was forced to change from natural to synthetic rubber with alacrity following Pearl Harbor and the overrunning of Malaya and other rubber sources in Asia by the Japanese. As a result many "bugs" developed in the synthetic product.

That these have been, in the main, eliminated is evident in the results of grueling tests which the manufacturers are constantly giving the tires. In recent advertisements some manufacturers declare that synthetic tires are now as good as natural rubber tires ever were.

Since the spring of 1942 test fleets have put more than 165,000,000 miles on synthetic tires under conditions more severe than most tires encounter. These summarizations have resulted:

Passenger car and light truck tires, which are being made of 100 per cent synthetic rubber, are now almost as good as prewar natural rubber tires. The best synthetic tire will wear 88 per cent as long as the top grade prewar casings. Truck tires, made of 70 per cent synthetic and 30 per cent natural rubber, are being built of rayon cord and will outwear cotton carcass prewar tires if they aren't overloaded and are held to moderate speeds in hot weather.

As for the tubes, those made for passenger cars and small trucks aren't as good as natural rubber tires because the best quality synthetic rubber isn't available for them. But synthetic tubes for large trucks, made of butyl, are said to be better than natural rubber tires.

Some tire company executives predict that when the war is over and plenty of butyl is available, there will be no thought of returning to natural rubber for either passenger car or truck tires.

Beyond Clark Field

It is three years since Japanese dive bombers roared down over Clark Field, 40 miles north of Manila, and wiped out virtually all important American air power in the Philippines. It wasn't long after that when Jap soldiers overran the big airport.

Now hosts of American planes boss the skies over Luzon; American military forces have taken Clark Field as an incident in their stride toward Manila. They have captured Fort Stotsenburg, nearby, where General MacArthur's father was once commander.

It's a big thing, in its way. There are many airstrips on this elaborate base. They were found soon with land mines and booby traps. Japanese artillery wasn't so far away that it couldn't throw shells on the field. But our once seemingly irresistible foes had to give it up, without any struggle to speak of.

It should not be long before Clark Field is in use for our planes, including the heaviest types of bombers. That means exceptional strengthening of our air power in the Far East at a very early date for assaults on Japanese-held China, Formosa and the Japanese main islands, as well as for further operations against Takashima's armies on Luzon. All in all it was a nice birthday present for General MacArthur.

Nevertheless we should not count the recovery of these places with familiar names and historical significance for America at more than their real value, suggests the Philadelphia Inquirer. We shall take Manila, Bataan, Corregidor. The Japanese flag will be hauled down in the Philippines. But Japanese power will still remain, violent, fanatical and deeply entrenched, beyond them.

As we hail these victories we must prepare for even more vital ones to be achieved, arduously and at no small cost, until Tokyo itself is taken and Japan's military might broken for all time.

History records many unusual incidents, but lists only one statesman—Daniel Webster—who offered to pay off the national debt.

War cost to the Allies to date has been half a trillion dollars, of which the United States has contributed half. Uncle Sam has the iron manpower.

Split Over Policy In Greece, In Labor Policy

LONDON, Jan. 29. The political split over Greece is not so much between the Conservatives and the Labor Party as it is one within the Labor Party itself.

Feeling inside the Labor Party is very bitter. I go, a curious insight into it quite by accident when I was being chaperoned around the House of Commons by a Labor M. P.

I asked him to arrange a meeting for me with Aneurin Bevan, the Welsh miner who has been one of the most active opponents of the government's Mediterranean policy. My guide replied that he would not speak to "that man," but that he would get a message to him through a second party.

Dramatic-Looking Man

Bevan is a dramatic-looking figure, and he knows how to dramatize himself to the greatest political advantage. He has thick, graying black hair which is inclined to fall across his high forehead. With his dark eyes and flushed face, he has an ardent Celtic look.

His life story is like that of the hero of the play, "The Corn Is Green," in which Ethel Barrymore had such success in America several years ago. He came out of the mines as an underfed, stuttering youth with an intense drive for knowledge and self-improvement. Like the hero of the play, he has emotional struggles. He has pulled himself up to his present position and overcome all handicaps by his own brilliance and shrewdness.

When he sits on the opposition benches facing the aristocrat Churchill, the contrast is stronger than any playwright ever imagined. Bevan is well aware of the political publicity values inherent in opposition to the prime minister, who occupies a pre-eminent position on the world stage at this moment.

That is one reason why many Laborites feel so bitter toward him. They feel he is making trouble simply to enhance his own personal position. They accuse him of insincerity.

Even More Important

But even more important is the fact of party loyalty which is the essence of British politics. Bevan's worst crime is disloyalty. His party is a partner in the coalition government, and therefore he has no right to attack the government's position.

Furthermore, the Labor Party is haunted by a ghost out of the past. It is the ghost of the late Ramsay MacDonald, who yielded to the blandishments of the Tories. Laborites have unhappy memories of MacDonald's about-face in 1931, which robbed the party of a leader and personal popularity.

Most Labor Party leaders today come out of that period, which is one reason they are so insistent on orthodoxy. The habit of caution is strong with them.

Men such as Herbert Morrison, Clement Attlee and Ernest Bevin have had a hard and thankless job. This is particularly true of Bevin, the minister of labor. Much resentment is directed at him because his task has been to assign women and men to necessary jobs. Inevitably these men have been overshadowed in the cabinet by Churchill, who is a stout Tory.

Because the leadership is so closely held, younger men in the Labor Party are kept down. The average age of Labor members in Parliament is considerably above that of the Conservative members. The Conservative Party seems to have been much more successful in recruiting keen, younger men to run in elections when members die or resign. The whole Parliament is of course getting on in age, since no general election has been held for nearly 10 years.

The question is whether the Labor Party can rejuvenate its leadership and devise a program that will catch the imagination of the voters. So far as can be determined, no other party is rising out of the left. The Commonwealth Party, with a Socialist program founded by Sir Richard Acland, seems to be making little progress.

Will Offer Better Plan

Conservatives here in Britain have always had a wonderful skill in pulling the rug out from under the Laborites. They will offer in the postwar election campaign a social security plan to out-Beveridge the cradle-to-grave security scheme of Sir William Beveridge. That illustrates the shrewdness of their approach—they know you have to offer something to make concessions. In order to win elections and thereby to hold some of the privileges and prerogatives out of the past.

Aggressive Laborites, to the left of the cautious leadership, such as Aneurin Bevan, are making themselves heard. Significantly, Bevan was elected to membership on the national executive committee of the party at a recent conference. Perhaps in the end Bevan and men like him may capture control.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:12. Sun rises tomorrow 8:14.

A great amount of paper can be saved if people write on both sides of the paper when writing letters.

Who can remember when a pack of cigarettes could be left on a desk with safety?

The people who get along best in the world are not the ones who always tell other people what they ought to do.

Don't tell anyone, but there is an awful lot of lying over the telephone.

There seems to be a surplus of shortages.

THAT CONFUSING LEGAL TERMINOLOGY

Pat had been arrested for murder. He was guilty and knew it but he did not want to hang. And, learning that his friend Tom was on the jury, he contacted Tom and said: "Now, Tom, I know I ought to be convicted of first-degree murder but I'll give you $500 if you can get me a verdict of manslaughter."

The day of the trial Pat was very nervous and increasingly so as the jury deliberated hour after hour. Finally they marched in, and the foreman said: "We find the defendant guilty of manslaughter."

Pat was so thankful and relieved that he immediately handed his friend a check for the promised $500 but for $1,000.

"That's all right," replied Tom. "I'm glad I could do something for you but I'll admit it was a tough job. There were the other 11 of them all for 'acquittal' but believe me, I just held out for manslaughter like you said."

An alleged authority says for every woman who makes a fool out of a man there is another woman who makes a man out of a fool.

Another thing promised for after the war is men's trousers that will not bag at the knees.

In this country when people hear an airplane overhead they look up. In foreign countries when they hear one they duck for shelter.

No man ever gets very far from pacing the floor.

Now it can be told, everybody has been wondering why a certain restaurant owner closed the place the other day and went out and got drunk.

It was all the fault of a customer who got up, went down the street to another restaurant and returned with two grilled steak sandwiches, sat down at the counter where he had recently gotten up, unwrapped the sandwiches and asked: "Mind if I use your ketchup?"

We saw Hi Hum yesterday and he looked very blue. He said he had spent a hard night dreaming that he had accepted a job.

A homely face ceases to be homely when it wears a smile.

The trouble with an open mind is that it is liable to leak.

For every man who wants to work there are two who want to be the boss.

If he can bear ten years of nagging and complaining without cracking up, he is a saint or mercifully deaf.

As he walked out of the Fortune Teller's tent at the recent charity ball, his face was aglow with a happy smile and his friend commented: "You must have heard something good."

"You bet I did. She predicted financial reverses."

"Why you poor goof. Why should that make you happy?"

"That just shows how much you know about me. If my finances don't reverse pretty soon, I'll be broke."

All there is to greatness is the absence of littleness.

One lesson every child should learn is: it is the friends you make that make you.

When information can't be given for "reasons of security," it means another big shot is covering up a blunder.

Their married life will be a long and happy one if friend husband will refrain from asking "What is it you want to know, dear?" when he sees his wife reaching for the dictionary.

Jealousy: A confession of inferiority, or the fear that you can't match the wiles of a competitor.

Stilwell's Post Most Important

Chief Of Army Ground Forces Is One Of Great Responsibility In War

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For N. S.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell has been appointed to one of the most important military duties in the United States—chief of the army ground forces.

Not so long ago many rumors were in existence as to why Gen. Stilwell had been recalled from China. His new designation to this most important position in the United States should nullify forever any and all wrong statements made, or that might be made about him.

The tremendous responsibility—that every man who enters the army is properly trained, conditioned, and armed before he goes into battle—rests squarely on the shoulders of the chief of army ground forces. His scope is even much greater. Now that the war, both in the east and the west, is in full swing he is responsible that the replacements for every section of all our far-flung battlefronts are sent to those fronts and they must be there before they are needed.

Unit commanders of troops engaged in battle have no time for the training of their men, particularly new men. After combat, a regimental commander will submit a list, that he needs so many captains, so many lieutenants, so many staff sergeants, so many non-commissioned officers of all grades, and so many privates.

Theory of Replacements
In theory, that replacement should reach him immediately, and it should be made up of men who are completely and entirely trained to fill their respective grades. They arrive at their regiment and are immediately assigned to their units and, in theory, that regiment is again not only at full strength, but completely ready for battle.

The hero general, Lesley J. McNair—who was wounded in the head in North Africa and killed in Normandy, France—perfected, under the able leadership of our chief of staff, Gen. Marshall, our systems of training men for the army. Nevertheless, those systems will not run themselves. They constantly need adjusting, checking, and at times actual alteration. Gen. Ben Lear has most able carried on that work. Now, we may all be thankful that one of our greatest soldiers, both in time of peace and in the most terrible of all wars, has been appointed as chief of army ground forces.

Gen. Stilwell wears the Distinguished Service Medal—highest award given by the army for services exceptionally well performed in time of war. The high command of the army could not have appointed a better man as chief of the army ground forces, or a man who is more deserving of a tour of service in the United States.

Mexico And U. S. Joint Statement

Presidents Of Two Countries Reveal Sore-Spot In Relations Has Been Healed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—President Roosevelt and President Avila Camacho of Mexico today released a joint report disclosing that a sore spot in United States-Mexican relations has now been healed.

Since the beginning of the war, the Mexican government has complained that United States' refusal to allow adequate exports to move across the Rio Grande has threatened the sound economy of Mexico.

The problem was discussed personally between the two leaders during their dramatic meeting at Monterey, Mexico, and Corpus Christi, Tex., in 1943.

Their consultations resulted in the establishment of the Mexican-American commission for economic cooperation, whose final report the two presidents released today.

The report said that the principal assistance the commission has been able to render "has been in the obtaining of priorities and export licenses," to carry out various construction and development projects in Mexico.

The commission, it was revealed, has approved a total of 58 development projects. In his letter to the president of Mexico, President Roosevelt pointed out that in spite of U. S. preoccupation with war production, more American products were supplied to Mexico during the years 1943 and 1944 than during any two-year period in the trade between the two countries.

Synthetic And Natural Rubber Will Conflict

Production Will Be Many Times Demand In Postwar Period In World

By LEON PEARSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—A head-on collision between synthetic and natural rubber was predicted today by international experts who foresaw a postwar rubber supply almost twice as great as the world can consume.

In their first factual statement, after six months of study, experts of the three principal rubber-producing nations of the world—the United States, United Kingdom and the Netherlands—predicted that within three or four years after the liberation of the Far Eastern territories, enough natural rubber will be available to meet the entire world demand.

This brought out into the open for the first time the question of what will be done with the vast new synthetic rubber industry of the United States, which is now producing 750,000 tons a year.

Huge Increase
And this will be increased by synthetic production in other countries to a postwar total of one and one-third million tons a year.

At the same time, the experts calculated the postwar demand for rubber of all kinds as "not likely to reach more than a half-million tons annually"—making it clear that the combined natural and synthetic rubber production will be almost twice the world demand.

While emphasizing "the very great uncertainties which surround any estimates," the experts acknowledged that there will be "a marked disequilibrium between the productive capacity of the world and the demands for consumption."

In short, it was made clear that the present rubber shortage will be converted, after the recovery of British and Dutch natural rubber areas, into a very embarrassing surplus.

This posed the question of what may be done to protect the new American synthetic rubber industry from competition by the old natural rubber-producing areas of the Netherlands East Indies and British Malay.

Observers recalled that President Roosevelt is on record as opposing a tariff on natural rubber.

Chances Against Damaging Flood

Heavy Rainfall Over Wide Area Only Way Severe Flood Could Hit This Year

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Weatherman W. S. Brotzman today declared that the odds are 100 to 1 against the Pittsburgh district having a severe flood this winter.

He added, however: "While there is no indication we will have a flood, the proper thing to do is to be alert, to make preparations because this is the flood season."

Brotzman said the temperature would have to rise to 50 degrees and two inches of rain would have to fall before there would be a flood stage of only 30 feet.

"In 1936, we had five to seven inches of rain. It was the only time in the city's history we ever had so much rain over such a large area."

"I'd think we'd have to have that much now to have a heavy flood. On top of that, we have the new flood control dams to hold back the water."

He said snow contributed only three inches to the 46-foot crest in the famous St. Patrick's day flood.

Crusader Against Gambling Is Slain

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 29.—(INS)—Under flat orders to work 24 hours a day if necessary to break the case, Buffalo police sought the killers today of Edward J. Pospichal, 32-year-old aircraft plant employee who doubled in brass as a one-man crusader against all forms of gambling.

Pospichal's body was found in a snow bank near Buffalo harbor yesterday morning, with four bullet wounds in the neck and head and evidence indicating that he had been struck down with a blunt instrument before his life was snuffed out with a revolver.

District Attorney Leo J. Hagerly expressed belief that Pospichal's slaying resulted from his crusading against gambling.

"NECKTIE" PARTY

SOMEWHERE IN THE PHILIPPINES (Delayed)—(INS)—Local debutantes have started holding dances for visiting marine airmen.

The Empire State building, in New York, has nearly seven miles of elevator shafts.

For one of these dances formal invitations were sent out requesting guests to wear neckties. The "necktie" party was one of the most exclusive affairs of the season, since marine flyers, based for so long on uncivilized islands and atolls, long ago had dispensed with such attire, so unnecessary in the tropics.

AMERICAN FIRST ARMY VETERANS MAKE NEW GAINS

toward the northeast and also chalked up gains of some four miles as it joined the First Army in a push along a front of some 40 miles.

Patton's forces also slogged through snowdrifts and pushed their mobile units over icy roads but front was improving somewhat, raising the hope that Allied tactical air forces could resume their grueling punishment of the retreating Germans.

The determined, frost-bitten Yanks pushed forward to the east of Amblev and seized high ground two miles southeast of St. Vith.

Garrison Driven Out

An enemy garrison in Gufflange, to the southeast of St. Vith, was driven out of the town and sent scurrying through the snow toward the west.

Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters also revealed that Patton's troops had crossed hazardous, snow-covered enemy mine fields and broken through road blocks to reach the vicinity of Brach and northeast of Weiswampach fought their way to within a mile of the Our river.

Earlier reports said Yank patrols had fought to the banks of the stream along the Reich frontier but it was not confirmed in the official communiqué.

American patrols reached Kalborn, five miles northeast of Clerfvaux, and strengthened their hold on Munhausen to the southeast. Wahlhausen and Weiler were occupied by American units and high ground northeast of Weiler was seized.

Heavy snow hampered operations in the Saarbrücken area across the lower Vosges to northern Alsace.

Increase Pressure

At the same time U. S. Seventh Army forces linked up with the French First Army at the southern end of the front to increase their pressure against the German garrison at Colmar which was reported to be digging in for a siege. Front dispatches indicated the Sixth Army group in this area were within four miles of the Rhine.

At the northern end of the front the British Second Army pushed to the west bank of the Roer river at several points against slight opposition which gave rise to reports that there were no German troops of any great defensive force left to the west of the stream.

The U. S. Ninth Army, previously reported by German sources to have started pushing eastward of both sides of Julich, strengthened its hold on positions along the Roer river line from which the eventual push toward the Ruhr is expected to be launched.

Took Nazis By Surprise

The First Army thrust was launched before dawn without artillery preparation and caught the Nazis completely by surprise. Within the first 12 hours of their assault they drove the enemy from the frontier towns of Heppenbach, Hepscheid, Vallender and Brescheid in the area north of St. Vith.

Advance units were reported in late front dispatches to have reached within a half mile of the Siegfried line east of Malmedy.

At the same time the Third Army rapidly eroded the villages of Maspelt and Munshausen.

French forces at the southern end of the front reached the north bank of the Colmar canal for a stretch of several miles in the area northeast of Colmar.

Despite bad weather, American fighter-bombers spread havoc among the Germans retreating from their ill-fated Ardennes venture during the past week, destroying or damaging more than 6,000 units of Nazi mobile equipment.

Tempelsburg, Czarnikau and Opalonia were among 400 places assaulted north and northwest of Posen, Moscow said. Both were captured.

Secret Advance

The Soviet news agency, indicating Zhukov's northern group had pushed 30 miles into Brandenburg in a "secret advance" during the past week added that Soviet forces which captured Bromberg last Tuesday "are now 200-odd kilometers (about 124 miles) from Berlin." This would place them about 60 miles from Stettin at the mouth of the Oder.

Slugging westward from Posen Soviet tank-supported infantry met fiercer opposition from French German forces which contested every town and highway junction.

In besieged Posen, the Nazi garrison, adapting stone buildings for defense, retreated from street to street before advancing Red soldiers. As Zhukov's northern wing stabbed into Germany's "empire" province, the lower jaw of his pincers striking at Berlin punched 20 miles west-southwest. Posen's First important Polish junction of the Opalonia, 21 miles from the central Brandenburg border, to within 109 miles of Berlin and 75 miles from Frankfurt-on-Oder.

Last Major Defense

Frankfurt is the last major defense bulwark on the shortest route to the Reich capital city.

The lower wing of Zhukov's drive stretched south to within 22 miles of a strategic junction with units of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian army, which yesterday secured the rich Dabrowa basin with the capture of Katowice and a number of other key towns.

Seizure of Beuthen gave Konev's troops control of southern Silesia with its vital supplies of coal and other war materials.

German losses in the Dabrowa area included huge smelting and steel works, synthetic oil plants and a big textile industry. Moscow reports said the Russians have seized factories of the Krupp and the Hermann Goering metal works transferred to this part of Europe for safety.

Meanwhile, Berlin broadcasts said during the night "the Russians are now at the gates" Breslau, capital of lower (northern) Silesia, with "more Russian forces moving down the west bank of the Oder from two bridgeheads not far from the city."

Liberate Lithuania

The liberation of Lithuania was completed with the capture of Memel, ceded to Germany in 1939, by Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's First Baltic Army, which opened a new offensive to bolster the Russian northern flank and mop up a German pocket above East Prussia.

The fall of Memel completed the removal from German control of nearly 23,000 square miles of territory and 3,000,000 persons.

The Second White Russian Army of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky topped the Nazi hedgehog bases of Chełmno (Kulm), fortress city on the eastern edge of the old Polish corridor 67 miles south-southwest of Danzig and 155 miles east of Stettin.

Other units of Rokossovsky's army smashed across to the west bank of the Vistula, joining with Zhukov's northern wing.

Inside the isolated bunker province, where an estimated 25 German divisions are trapped, Rokossovsky's columns and units of Gen. Ivan D. Chernyakovsky's Third White Russian army overran more than 250 additional towns and villages.

In the Carpathians, far to the south along the twisting battle line Gen. Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukrainian army, driving forward through snow-filled valleys, captured Poprad a Czechoslovakian city 15 miles south of the Polish-Slovak border.

Officer Pleads Not Guilty In G.I. Pillaging

PARIS, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The first American officer brought to trial before a military court on charges of pillaging government trains entered a plea of innocent today. The officer, First Lieut. John W. Springer of California (home town unavailable), yardmaster at the Versailles railway depot and a member of the 716th railway operating company, pleaded not guilty to seven specific charges alleging his conspiracy in pillaging cigarettes and candy from rail cars in transit from Dreux to Versailles.

COAL SHORTAGE CLOSES SCHOOLS

for coal. Realizing drugs would freeze if there was no coal, and in view of prevalent illness here, he requested coal for the drugstore. In another case a woman said she had ordered coal which had not been delivered. Since then she had moved, had a sick child and no coal. An inquiry was conducted. Mayor Haven then asked the dealer from whom she ordered the coal to supply the home.

The mayor, the committee from the Coal Dealers' Association and representative of the school board agree upon delivery to homes only, and essential places after it was stated that the crisis may become worse instead of better during the next week or two. Everybody who has coal was urged to conserve it.

The business houses, clubs, theaters, etc., which have coal can keep open. However, they must ration the coal they have, themselves, because there is no immediate prospect of them getting any early deliveries, according to the agreement reached Saturday.

Mayor Haven at noon today received from C. J. Potter, deputy Solid Fuels administration, Washington, a directive, which approves the action in regard to non-delivery of coal to all, except homes, already taken by the committee he organized here.

The committee, according to the directive, "is urged to do everything within their power to curtail and completely eliminate the use of solid fuels in amusement places, educational institutions and in any other building, public or private, where this can be done without endangering the health of the community."

YANK COLUMNS REPORTED DRIVING CLOSER TO MANILA

sario from the Japs and liberated the town of Angeles, midway between Mexico and Clark field.

Rosario Taken
Rosario, vital enemy bastion guarding the highway leading to the Philippine summer capital of Baguio where Yamashita may be maintaining his headquarters, was bitterly defended by the Japs.

In capturing strategic Rosario, Maj. Gen. Innis P. Swift's first corps veterans cut to ribbons one Jap division and another brigade.

Blast Corridor
While Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger's sixth army units bore down upon the Manila bay area, heavy, medium and attack bombers blasted enemy positions at Cavite naval base; the fortress of Corregidor, and on Bataan peninsula—all sites of gallant Yank stands in early 1942.

Approximately 200 tons of high explosives rained down from four-rotated bombers upon Cavite and Corregidor, with direct hits being scored and "large" fires touched off. Enemy defenses at Bataan and Subic bay were "wrecked" by the smaller U. S. warplanes which also cratered the Cabacan airfields and strafed Jap communications and bivouacs.

Other bombers of the far eastern air force ranged far and wide over enemy-held areas from Formosa to the Solomons area.

George Lowe, Bureau of Motor Vehicles of the Department of Revenue, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Division of Highway Safety, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the New Castle Kiwanis club, Wednesday noon, in The Castleton. His subject will be "Highway Safety". On February 7, the Boy Scouts will be in charge of the program and there will be something special on Valentine Day, also.

Second Victim Of Fire Succumbs

Mrs. Myrtle McQuiston Passes Away In Sharon Hospital As Result Of Shock From Blaze

Mrs. Myrtle McQuiston, wife of former County Treasurer G. Ralph McQuiston, of 359 Baldwin avenue, Sharon, passed away over the week-end in Buhl hospital, following her husband in death by only a few hours, after the disastrous fire in their Sharon home early Saturday morning.

Floyd Nowling, of Neshannock boulevard, a nephew, left for Sharon this morning to attend funeral services for the couple which will be conducted this afternoon.

Firemen, on arriving at the scene, found McQuiston's body in the living room on the first floor, while Mrs. McQuiston was found in an unconscious condition, sitting in a chair on the second floor. It is believed Mr. McQuiston was overcome trying to reach his wife after he had called firemen to tell them of the blaze. Their eight-room home was virtually destroyed by fire.

New German Sub Defies Detection

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Accentuating recent warnings of renewed Nazi U-boat activities, Rep. Mott (R-Ore.) revealed today that the Germans have perfected a submarine which at times cannot be detected.

The disclosure was made at a public hearing of the House committee on postwar military policy, during questioning of Dr. Frank B. Jewett, president of the National Academy of Sciences.

"Isn't it a fact that the Germans are now operating submarines on certain occasions and certain circumstances can not be detected?" Mott asked the witness.

Jewett nodded his assent.

Alcoa Host At Winter Frolic

Approximately 1200 Attend Plant Frolic At Cathedral Saturday Night

PROGRAM PROVES MOST ENJOYABLE

With dancing, movies, singing and a vivacious skit making up the program, about 1200 employees of the Aluminum Company of America's New Castle plant and their guests turned out for a "Winter Frolic" in the Cathedral ballroom and dining hall Saturday evening. Twenty-five men from the Deshon annex and twenty-five from the USO were given special invitations to the party.

The party, which lasted from 8 o'clock until well past midnight, put into practice Plant Manager H. J. Morrison's theory that "it is easier for us to work together and work hard if we can play together, too."

Following the dancing at the beginning of the evening, the program opened with songs by the Die Shop Quartette, wearing red, white, and blue Uncle Sam hats, and the eight Rockettes who carried parts of airplanes and fuses, symbolic of the plant's work. Al Fayre was the pianist for the quartette, while accompanying Miss Erma Stafel, who sang two soprano solos, was Helen Villani.

Characters in the comedy skit "Little Gray Home in the West" were: Grandma Alcoa, Ed Leary; little Alcoa Al, Ernest Nickol; Little Nell, John Nader; the villain, Clifton Skinfint, Clifton Skinner; the minister, A. V. Bolt; and the hero Percy Kindheart, Harry Fukes. Representing the scenery were: Jim Myles, Harold Hartzell, Jim Huff, Jack Slaver, Chester Johns, Richard Holloway, and Dick Davis. Mr. Preston was the narrator. H. J. Morrison closed the program by reading the names of the players on the baseball, basketball, and bowling teams.

Dancing Contests

Dancing contests were next on the schedule, although movies were shown at the same time for those who did not care to dance. Helen Magusiak and Paul Peluso took top honors in jitterbugging, while the winners of the Waltz contest were Marie Bruno and her husband, Pfc. Phil Bruno, who has just returned from 29 months overseas. Mrs. Morton and her partner, Mark Thompson, won the polka prize.

Refreshments were served buffet style later in the evening, under the supervision of A. V. Bolt's food committee, which included: Lyle Himebaugh, James J. Flynn, Leo G. Wolfe, R. Harlan, Thomas Armstrong, Helen Zombek, Laverne Lorenz, Margaret Palls, Glenna Patton, N. Wilkins, Leda Dardynski, Jean Genkinger, Elsie Wagner, Marian Bleicke, Anna May Haug, and Stella Wolosevich.

Accordian player Carl Leone topped off the evening with a number of selections while the guests were eating. All entertainment was arranged by the committee headed by Charles Sprague and made up of Edward Leary, William Haley, Walter Preston, and John Robey.

In charge of general arrangements were: Howard Geary, chairman; Ralph Hoffman, Richard Holloway, D. Ramsey, J. Matthews; and H. Irwin. Under R. H. Byers, the publicity committee consisted of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Headlund, George Strubler, Marlene Thomas and Dorothy Nelson. Henry R. Neill handled the financial arrangements for the big frolic, while general chairman of the whole affair was T. D. Jones.

RADIUM FOUND IN PILE OF REFUSE

LOWELL, Mass., Jan. 29.—A brass case containing vials of radium valued at $5000 has been found after being lost for three days when it was mistakenly thrown into a wastebasket at a local hospital. The radium was recovered in a pile of refuse which was carted in from the city dump yesterday. Since the detector would not function in the sub-zero temperature, the refuse was brought into a heated garage for inspection.

U. S. Is Ready To Retaliate If Enemy Uses Gas

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — The United States is ready to retaliate effectively if the enemy uses poison gas, and the enemy that invites this counter chemical warfare may receive some surprises, Maj. Gen. William N. Porter, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, warned. In Pittsburgh for a conference with chiefs of the six chemical warfare procurement districts in the country, General Porter said that so far no gas has been used against American troops, although the Japanese have used it against the Chinese.

He said it would be "illogical" for the Germans to use gas because of their waning airpower and their besieged positions, but commented that the Germans were an "illogical people."

Although the Chemical Warfare Service keeps prepared at all times for a war of poisonous gases, it is active in many other fields, the general pointed out. He enumerated the Goon gun, the component parts of which are produced in Pittsburgh, flame throwers, fire bombs and smoke projectiles.

CANADA WILL SIGN CHICAGO AIR PACT

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Canada announced today its adherence to the "Two Freedoms" air agreement, which provides that planes of one country may fly across another without stopping or may stop at designated airports for refueling or for emergencies.

The announcement that Canada would become the 34th nation to sign the agreement, drafted at the International Civil Aviation Conference at Chicago, was made at the conclusion of a two-day conference here of official delegates of Canada and the United States.

Canada's adherence thus gives the United States carriers the right of transit and technical stop in Canada on the way to Europe and Asia.

SOLDIER VOTE SHOWS TOLERANCE

DENVER—(INS)—An indication that servicemen do not feel unreasonably bitter towards Japanese-Americans because of their Japanese ancestry, was demonstrated in Colorado where soldier ballot counting was just completed.

An amendment to the Colorado constitution was offered to the voters which, if passed, would have prevented aliens from owning property within the state. Civilians turned down the amendment by a 12,000 majority. Servicemen also rejected it, 7,397 voting against the amendment and 3,247 for it.

FUGITIVE SEIZED AFTER 18 YEARS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced today the arrest on a farm near Currie, N. C., of an escaped Federal prisoner whom authorities had been seeking for more than 18 years.

Mr. Hoover said the man, Virgil Fred Burgess, 44, escaped from the U. S. Industrial Reformatory at Chillicothe, O., on July 31, 1926, where he was serving a three-year sentence for participation in a post-office theft at Stollings, W. Va.

Odds Against Wallace Are On Increase

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The odds against senate confirmation of former Vice-president Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce—after he consents to a divorce of vast Federal loan agencies—apparently increased today.

Alarmed by the situation, some friends of Wallace were urging passage of the George Bill, under which control of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and subsidiaries would be taken from the Commerce Department and put in an independent agency.

Claim Defeat

At the same time, bitter foes of Wallace demanded that the senate go ahead and vote on the nomination without reference to the George Bill. Wallace foes claimed he would be defeated, 52 to 43, on a full senate vote.

Sen. Bailey (D) N. C., chairman of the Commerce Committee, meantime planned to submit an unfavorable report on the Wallace nomination tomorrow as well as a favorable report on the George Bill.

Senate Republicans—apparently overwhelmingly against Wallace—were summoned into a conference today at which the nomination was to be discussed.

A group of Wallace foes, including Sens. Byrd (D) Va., and McKeen (D) Tenn., president pro tempore of the senate, urged a speedy vote on the nomination.

Wallace Supporters Split

Wallace supporters were split on the question of tactics. Some wanted the senate to pass the George Bill and then vote on the nomination in the hope that Wallace would be confirmed. They then would depend upon the house to block the George Bill.

Sen. Bilbo (D) Miss., a supporter of Wallace, however, took a contrary view.

"It would be very unfortunate to vote on the nomination before the George Bill becomes a law," said Bilbo. "One-fourth to one-third of the senate is already to vote for Wallace if the George Bill does become law. They would not be satisfied just to have the George Bill pass one branch of congress."

Sen. Mead (D) N. Y., another Wallace supporter, rejected Bilbo's contention.

"I'd like to vote on the George Bill and if it passes then take up the nomination," he said. "I think Wallace would win."

One Democratic senator declared, however, that the CIO and other liberal groups wanted Wallace to go down fighting, if he is whipped. They were said to insist that he refuse to agree to a divorce of the loan agencies.

A story was circulated in congressional circles to the effect that President Roosevelt, before sending Wallace's name to the senate, agreed to consult him upon transfer of the loan agencies. Since the transfer was not made, it was assumed that Wallace insisted that he retain them in the commerce department.

Train Is Held For Over Hour For Col. Jas. Roosevelt

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The hour and seven minutes the extra fare streamliner, "City of Los Angeles" was held up for Col. James Roosevelt was the longest it ever had been delayed for such a purpose, a spokesman for the Chicago and Northwestern railroad said today.

The delay was ordered, a spokesman said, because Col. Roosevelt represented that he was on "urgent duty."

E. W. Everson, assistant station master who granted the request said, however, that if it had been made by any other high officer in similar circumstances the same consideration would have been shown. Everson said the telegram received asking the delay until a late Pennsylvania railroad train could arrive bore the name of Col. Roosevelt.

L. L. White, Northwestern vice-president in charge of operations, said:

"Previously, the crack train has been held briefly. But it never before has waited as long as an hour.
The deluxe train was held after receipt of the telegram last Saturday night when it was found that the Pennsylvania train from Washington, D. C., on which Col. and Mrs.
Roosevelt, would not arrive in time to make connections with the "City of Los Angeles" if the later train departed on schedule.

Embargo On Freight
To Be Lifted Tonight

Enforced to allow the railroad to catch up on its coal shipments, the freight embargo on the Pennsylvania will be lifted tonight at midnight, according to LeRoy Sim-cock, chief clerk of the Erie and Ashtabula division.

No freight at all has been accepted since midnight Friday night, except government orders of war materials, Mr. Simcock said.

ATLANTIC CITY, Jan. 29.—(INS)—
More than 200 firemen battled a general alarm fire in an Atlantic City laundry for more than an hour destroyed ten trucks, irreplaceable machinery, and quantities of laun-

Hope For Relief In Coal Shortage

Abandonment Of Railroad Embargo
Is Expected At Midnight
Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—
Relief for Western Pennsylvania's severe coal shortage appeared in sight today as abandonment of the railroad embargo was in prospect at midnight tonight.

Area coal production today was expected to suffer a loss of another 70,000 tons, the Solid Fuels Administration reported, in what was hoped to be the final day of the embargo.

Railroads indicated their car supplies had improved to the point where almost normal shipments can be expected tomorrow, the SFA said.
Thirty-seven mines were reported down as a direct result of the action.

The embargo was relaxed over the week end to permit moving coke to several steel mills. No estimate was available, however, on the total steel production tonnage lost because of the tie-up.

Stores To Continue
Keeping Open On Monday Evenings

New Castle stores will continue their policy of remaining open on Monday nights, although the order on "brownouts" of outdoor lighting will be observed, said William R.
Voorhis, chairman of the retail merchants division of the Greater
New Castle association today.

The Monday night opening of stores was put into effect to accommodate workers who otherwise found it difficult to get to the city to shop," said Mr. Voorhis. "The merchants believe this convenience should be continued, and unless the decision is changed will continue to do so. We have made some inquiry into the matter and find that the savings of coal would be negligible if the stores closed on Monday nights, but it would inconvenience workers."

Casanova Van Wie Lodged In Jail As Marriages Backfire

Man Who Married 12 Women Glad To Be In Safe Confinement
Of Jail

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Francis Van Wie, 58-year-old carman Casanova who allegedly chafed at a record of a round dozen marriages before being halted by the long arm of the law, was lodged in the security of city prison today.

The pudgy little Lothario whose many marriages were said to have been interspersed with few if any divorces found himself behind grim prison bars for breathing a deep sigh of relief as he looked back on the harrowing last lap of his police-escorted train trip from Los Angeles—accompanied as he was by two of his late wives who boarded his train at San Jose, 50 miles south of San Francisco.

The two Mrs. Van Wies—Myrtle and Mary Josephine, plump and fiftyish matrons—spearheaded a "welcoming" committee which poured aboard the train at San Jose and included two attorneys who both claimed the meek little multimarried Van Wie as their client.

While the two wives submitted Van Wie to a verbal crossfire, attorneys J. W. Ehrlich and James Toner got their heads together to plan their client's defense when he appeared to answer to three bigamy complaints in San Francisco municipal court today.

Ehrlich announced that he had been hired for the man's defense by an informal "free Van Wie" committee, headed by Louis Lurie, millionaire San Francisco financier. Toner said he had been hired in a long distance telephone conversation from Los Angeles with Van Wie.

CITY FUNDS IN BLACK
JOHNSTOWN, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The city of Johnstown was able to close out its books for the 1944 fiscal year and find itself entirely in the black.

Fred S. Brosius, director of accounts and finances, said there was a surplus of approximately $60,000. Unapplied cash on hand at the close of the year amounted to $140,629.31, more than offsetting the $140,000 issue of refunding bonds sold earlier in the year.

Discharged Veteran Inherits Fortune

Army Sergeant Jack Curtiss, 22,
Falls Heir To British Fortune
Of $2,000,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Jack E. Curtiss, 22, a medically discharged army sergeant, who before the war helped his father with chores on the Curtiss farm in Fayetteville, Ark., announced today he had just inherited 500,000 pounds sterling from a British cousin.

"I'm half dazed thinking about it," young Curtiss told the New York Mirror. He said he hadn't seen his cousin, Fordis Robertson, 70, an importer and exporter, since the Briton visited the Curtiss farm back in 1934.

Curtiss said he has no idea what he'll do with the legacy, amounting to two million dollars in American money.

A veteran of the African landing and Sicilian campaign, he was later shifted to the Far East and was wounded in Burma. Since he was mustered out three weeks ago he remained in New York awaiting his birth certificate so he could ship back to the Far East and join the Chinese army.

He said "he thinks" he'll marry a girl in Caney, Kan. He has never seen her—only her photo—he said, but they have been corresponding regularly.

SPARS ARRIVE IN HONOLULU

HONOLULU, Jan. 29.—(INS)—For the first time in the 155-year history of the United States Coast Guard, women members of this service set foot on shores other than the continental United States when 42 SPARS stepped off the gangplank of a huge, former luxury liner today at Honolulu.

Porty enlisted SPARS and their two accompanying SPAR officers filed down the long gangplank and marched off to waiting buses which took them to their barracks at Pearl Harbor.

The first to step on Hawaiian soil and thereby begin earning the 20 per cent overseas pay was demure Phyllis Baguley, 21-year-old second class yeoman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Baguley, of Lansing, Mich.

Explanation On Paper Shipment To France Asked

Congressmen Await Answer On Question Of Paper Allotment
To France From U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Reps. Clarence J. Brown (R) Ohio and Lyle H. Boren (D) Oklahoma, awaited action today on their demands that the State department explain why the United States had allotted five thousand tons of newsprint to be shipped to France within the next months.

In a joint letter to Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Brown and Boren, members of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee, said Sweden, Finland and Russia possess sufficient newsprint supplies to satisfy the demands of liberated Europe. The Soviet, they said, is the key to the problem.

Pointing out the seriousness of the woodpulp shortage in this country, the two congressmen asked why should France appeal to the U. S.—3,000 miles away—for pulp and paper when the world's greatest glut of pulp and paper capacity is right next door, in Sweden, Finland and Russia.

"Russia, Finland and Sweden," they added, "whose resources are right now accessible to each other, have together the greatest supplies of wood, pulp and paper so badly needed by Great Britain, Holland, Belgium, France and Italy."

Boren and Brown declared shipment of newsprint from the United States to Europe would use space needed for men and materials of war. They emphasized that Russia should be able to feed paper to Europe out of Archangel and Plesetsk and from the Black sea into the Mediterranean to "satisfy these European demands."

The congressmen estimated the United States would have a deficit of almost four million tons of newsprint the first year after Germany is defeated.

Brother Of Local Woman Is Missing

West Middlesex Flyer Reported
Missing Over Germany On December 31

Mrs. Thomas Flynn, of 1313 Huron avenue, has received word that her brother, Lt. Harry B. Winger, aged 20 years, of West Middlesex, a member of the crew of a B-17 bomber with the 8th Air Force in England, has been reported as missing in action following a flight over Germany on December 31.

He entered the service in February, 1943, and received his commission at Eagle Pass, Texas, in May, 1944, arriving overseas on December 1, 1944. He is a graduate of Hickory high school, Mercer County, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Winger, of West Middlesex.

In addition to the above sad news, Mrs. Flynn received word this morning that an uncle, Paul Ringer, who works out of New Castle for the B. and O. railroad, had been killed.

He broke the display window of a bank and stole a currency display of $312 but paid no attention to a sign in the window reading "know your money."

Half of the bills on display were counterfeit—and the other half bore no serial numbers and were printed on only one side.

Many Small Towns On Luzon Island Have Same Name

LUZON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Attention all armchair strategists and map-spreaders: If you're having difficulty keeping abreast of developments in the swift moving Philippines campaign, you can blame it on the person or persons responsible for naming the small cities where most of the battles have been fought recently.

In the present immediate fighting zones, you'll find exactly 105 barrios named San Isidro, more than 90 named San Jose and 80 titled San Juan.

To make things even similar there are 50 San Francisco, and the same number of San Antonio and San Vicente.

There's only one Manila.

Main Roads Clear, But Still Slippery

Although the snowfall Sunday and Sunday evening amounted to four or five inches, it wasn't "too bad," according to highway superintendent, E. O. Reed.

The snow is light and not badly drifted. Men on the highway crew were on the job all night again, and are working on the rural routes today. Main roads are all cleared, but are still slippery, Mr. Reed warned.

SOLDIERS LIKE GOOD MUSIC, HEIFETZ FINDS

By LARRY NEWMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Jan. 29.—(U. S. Staff Correspondent)—Russian-born master of the violin, Heifetz has learned in a few short weeks that the musical tastes of the American soldier are higher than many critics believe.

"When I was scheduled for a trip overseas, I was told that the average doughboy wouldn't appreciate the type of concerts which I play," Heifetz said. "But after playing to three strictly G. I. audiences, I learned that although many of our men didn't understand the music, they appreciated and loved it."

They Call For More

Heifetz gives his regular concerts, never "playing down" to the men. He tells them, "we're going to have a little spinach." And whenever they get a little "spinach" they clamor for more.

When Heifetz calls for requests the most popular selections are "Ave Maria," "Intermezzo," "Hungarian Dance," "On Wings of Song" and "The Girl with the Flaxen Hair." Many times the soldiers don't know the names of the selections but just whistle enough for Heifetz to recognize what they want to hear.

His Tour No Joyride

Returning to Rome for the first time in ten years, Heifetz admitted he found the soldier audiences "tough" but once he produced something easy to listen to, played "reasonably well," it was just like playing a concert back home. He added, however, that there were "some differences," such as playing in six-ton trucks out-of-doors, or in a Panama jungle where the humidity split his finest violin in six pieces, or at an airfield where P-38s kept roaring down.

The few hardships which the maestro has weathered cheerfully have changed his attitude somewhat and he admitted "I'll be easier to please when I get back on the regular concert tours." Many managers, he said, will be happy to hear that.

Heifetz told one particularly humorous story of a doughboy barber in an Alsace hotel who aspired to the concert stage as a violinist.

Barber Neglects Colonel

Every time Heifetz appeared in the hall, the barber immediately dropped his tools and began to saw away on a violin which he always kept at hand. This went on for some time until the barber happened to be working on a full colonel when Heifetz made an inopportune appearance. The barber dropped his razor and grabbed for his violin. Heifetz was moved to the floor below the following day.

The unhappy barber was rewarded a few days later when Heifetz entered the shop for a hair-cut and later played for the barber on the G. I.'s cheap little violin. Heifetz gave the barber some music and a very valuable mite. "They helped me some," said Heifetz.

The maestro has inaugurated one procedure which is very popular at his concerts. Before a particularly long and "heavy" selection he announces the fact and gives the G. I.'s a few minutes to leave.

"They usually sweat the piece out," he remarked.

Himalayas Pose Constant Menace To U. S. Flyers

PORTLAND, Ore. — (INS) — Flying the "hump" over the Himalaya mountains between India and China has dangers that make every pilot swear he will never try it again, but at the same time it is fascinating and every "hump" flyer comes back.

Such is the report of Capt. William J. Masters, who flew supplies over the "hump" for 17 months. Gaunt and haggard, Masters told of bailing out over the Burma jungle when one engine of his C-46 Curtiss commando conked out. The four-man crew had no other choice, he said, when attempts to throw out heavy cargo failed.

"We were lucky," he reported. "No one was hurt and we all got together in two days. It took us 12 days to walk back."

Six Days In Jungle
The men trudged through the jungle six days without food before a plane saw them and dropped food. At night they slept on one parachute and made a tent of another.

"It rained every night and we had to wade the river we were following a dozen times every day. We only saw two tigers, but every morning after breakfast camp we'd see fresh tiger tracks within 25 yards of our tent."

After eight days of living on chocolate bar rations and a little food dropped from the plane, the four wanderers walked into a clearing and were met by two native boys about 5 years old, who cried "O. K. Joe!"—all the English they knew.

After that the flyers were fed and led to safety by natives, none of whom speak English.

Weather Nightmare
Weather conditions in the China-India-Burma theater are a never-ending nightmare to flyers, Masters said.

"It's damn rough weather all year around, with thunderstorms and lightning and ice forming on the wings," he reported. "In the summer there are about eight months of monsoon weather, then comes winter with the thick ground fogs when practically all take-offs and landings are by instrument."

"Alaska may have worse conditions, but they don't last. There's never a let-up in India."

In spite of the weather and scant recreation facilities, Masters said, men in India are cheerful and show spirit that cannot be exceeded anywhere.

Senate Secretary Dies In Capital

Colonel Edwin A. Halsey, 63, suffering ill health for some time, Dies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Col. Edwin Alexander Halsey, secretary of the United States senate, died at his Washington home today at the age of 63. No details were immediately made known.

Halsey, who had served continuously as an employee of the senate in various capacities for the past 47 years, had been suffering ill health for some time.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mary Younger of Lynchburg, Va., and one son, Lieut. Edwin A. Halsey, Jr., of the U. S. navy.

The senate secretary, a Virginian, was appointed colonel on the staff of Gov. William H. Mann in 1919.

He was unanimously elected secretary of the senate on March 9, 1933, and unanimously re-elected Jan. 14, 1943.

Arrest Mother In Children's Neglect

Also Arrest Restaurant Owner For Selling Intoxicants Without License

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Police today held Catherine Taylor, 36, after a patrolman testified that she neglected her three children to loaf in a restaurant.

When police found two children, aged five and four, sledding in the early hours of the morning, they took them home, they said, and found a seven-month-old unclad infant alone in the house. They located the mother in a restaurant operated by Leroy Feagins, whom they arrested on a charge of selling whisky and beer without a license. They confiscated his stock of intoxicants and arrested seven persons.

Feagins was fined $25 and the patrons received fines of $5 each.

Red Cross Puts Out Newspapers

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—In order to keep servicemen in one area informed about their buddies in other sectors, the American Red Cross Field service occasionally puts out a single sheet newspaper at various Pacific outposts.

Field Director Lawrence W. Jackson, who recently returned from the Pacific after two and one-half years with the 7th Infantry division said Red Cross workers listened in on short wave broadcasts and put salient news into one news sheet. A few copies of the sheet are distributed to each company in a unit, he said.

Jackson's duties consisted of taking care of the comfort and recreation for the soldiers. He had three assistants to help him.

Their work included providing toilet articles from time to time because possessions frequently were lost at the front lines.

"A mirror and a toothbrush are not essential to a fighting man," Jackson conceded, "but they certainly help his morale."

Warn Against Floods In State

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Secretary of Health A. H. Stewart instructed local officials today to be ready to protect equipment and to conserve palatable water in event of floods.

Stewart urged them to prepare evacuation places for vulnerable equipment and reinforce entrances against water pressure. In order to assure continuous service, reservoirs and storage tanks should be kept filled and machinery checked, he added.

"Although there is no immediate prospect of a serious flood, a heavy snow covering, such as now exists, is always a potential threat of high water," Stewart stated. "Under these circumstances it is wise to take precautionary measures in order to be prepared should a flood occur."

Navy Makes Call For More Nurses

The mounting war in the Pacific led the Navy today to make urgent call for volunteer nurses to serve as commissioned officers in the Navy Nurse corps.

Qualified professional nurses were invited by Commander C. McK. Lynch, U. S. N., director of naval officer procurement, fourth naval district, to present themselves at the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Keystone Hotel building, Pittsburgh, Pa., if they are interested in serving their country in uniform.

Work Or Fight Bill Is Started Through House

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The May "work, fight or be jailed" bill began its perilous course through the house today, marked at the outset by a new effort to compromise bitter labor opposition to the administration measure.

So broad was the base of disagreement on the bill, however, that many members believed its chance of passage will largely rest upon the personal leadership of House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D. Texas).

Liberal and conservative blocs conceded the legislation to force men from 18 to 45 into essential war jobs was heading into a deadlock over amendments which might kill the bill.

The latest developments in compromise efforts came in an agreement to modify the Andrews "anti-closed shop" amendment so that it would include a guarantee protecting existing labor regulations—a stipulation not written into the bill of Rep. May (D. Ky.), house military chairman.

Conservatives hope this might make the Andrews ban against compulsory union membership "more palatable" to pro-labor members who are ready to counter with an anti-discrimination fair employment practices committee amendment of their own.

Leaders on both sides of the house assert privately that if the manpower control bill is loaded down with both proposals—each objectionable to different groups—it will never reach the senate.

The French were the first to attempt to make a stocking of any kind, and in the seven century their men were wearing leather encasings for purposes of warmth and protection.

AUSSIE BRIDE SAYS AMERICA IS WONDERFUL

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (INS)—Although separated 10,000 miles by the broad Pacific Ocean from her own country, the Australian bride of an American soldier has found happiness in the United States.

She is Mrs. Lois Arnold, formerly a registered nurse in a Melbourne, Australia, hospital. She and her husband, S. Sgt. Alfred B. Arnold, 370 Overlook Tr., 184th St., New York City, are staying in a hotel in Atlantic City as the guest of the Atlantic City Army Ground and Service Forces Redistribution Station.

Mrs. Arnold is most enthusiastic about her new country. To her everything about it is wonderful. She is especially loud in her praises for the friendliness of the American people.

With approximately 300 other Australian wives of American soldiers, she arrived at a west coast port last September. These women were extended many courtesies and hospitalities, especially by the American Red Cross and Travelers Aid.

"The people made us feel so at home," Mrs. Arnold disclosed eagerly. "When our ship docked there were representatives of the Red Cross waiting for us. They made hotel accommodations for us in San Francisco so we could wait while the Travelers Aid arranged for our train reservations. Honestly, it was wonderful!"

"When I left San Francisco," she went on, "I went to New York City to visit with my husband's family. They were so nice to me. And New York—well, New York is positively a wonder city. But all your cities are much larger than our Australian ones, generally speaking. I don't think your people nor your customs are too different from ours, however."

Mrs. Arnold is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kloves of Hingham, Victoria, Australia. While serving as a nurse in a Melbourne hospital she met Sgt. Arnold. They were married in February, 1943, in Townsville. To enable her to be near her husband, she resigned from the hospital and worked with the U. S. Quartermaster office in Townsville.

Sgt. and Mrs. Arnold are enjoying their stay while he is being processed for reassignment. They regard this as their second honeymoon. Most of the time is occupied by the wide social, entertainment and sports program arranged by the Atlantic Army Ground and Service Forces Redistribution Station for them, as well as for the other overseas veterans who have returned to this country and their wives.

Japanese Claim Subs Active In American Zone

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The Tokyo broadcast an entirely unsubstantiated claim today that Japanese submarines had "penetrated to the western coast" of the United States and had sunk three transport ships and an oil tanker.

The broadcast which was recorded by the FCC and gave as the source of its information a "Domestic dispatch from a 'certain base in the central Pacific front,'" did not say when the alleged sinkings took place.

Our submarine unit penetrated to the western coast of the homeland of the United States and is gallantly carrying on operations to disturb the enemy supply line," the Domestic agency was quoted as reporting.

U. S. Bombers And Fighters In New Attacks On Nazis

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(INS)—American fighters and bombers based in Britain raced over the Channel to the continent today for renewed attacks against German industry and communications.

The American sweep followed on the heels of a huge night attack by RAF bombers against Nazi rail communications near Stuttgart and a bombing attack against Berlin.

Hold Young Husband In Death Of Wife

Refuse To Release Seventeen-Year-Old Husband Until Autopsy Can Be Performed

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 29.—(INS)—Authorities said today Burr Walker, 17, formerly of Long Island, N. Y., charged with murder in the mysterious death of his bride, Jean Claus Walker, 18, would be held without bond at least until the results of an autopsy are revealed.

District Attorney Al Clyde, who has opposed the release of the youth on bond, said the autopsy findings would be known probably by Thursday.

The girl, an expectant mother, died last Thursday after being found in convulsions on a bed in the young couple's home with her arms and legs tied to the four bed posts.

Walker admitted he trussed up his bride in this fashion, but declared it was all in play.

The girl's body was sent by train to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Claus, of Mineola, L. I.

Fox Doubts Whether Groundhog Gets Out

With such an abundance of snow and frigid weather during the past seven weeks, it is the opinion of Owen Fox, city forester, that should a groundhog desire to emerge from its subterranean habitation, it would find that the snow would be a barrier to its "coming out party." Doubtless the snow would have found its way down to some depth into the entrance of the groundhog's den.

The only animal, besides the squirrel, Mr. Fox has noticed getting around during this wintry weather is a number of field mice at the feeding stations in Gaston park.

On sunny afternoons this time of the year, the chipmunk or ground squirrel, which also is a hibernator, gets out from the spaces in the wall at this park for a while, but Mr. Fox observes that thus far these openings are sealed with ice.

Driving Hazardous On District Roads

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Western Pennsylvanians today were in for typical "Monday" weather—so-called because snow fell today for the eighth consecutive Monday.

State police issued an early warning for all motorists not to drive without chains as driving conditions again became hazardous. Route 30, west of Pittsburgh, was reported especially bad, with several large trucks stalled on hills. It was impossible to drive without chains on highways near Greensburg, they said.

Most airline flights, however, were expected to be resumed today, after being canceled yesterday. Bus lines and trains generally were running on schedule.

Appeal Is Made For Greater Speed On B-29 Output

Workers In 12 Philadelphia Plants Inspired By Direct Appeal From William S. Knudsen

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Workers in 12 Philadelphia plants making parts for the giant B-29 Superfortresses were inspired today with a direct appeal from Lt. Gen. William S. Knudsen for an increased output of the mammoth planes.

"Swift production of more B-29's is the quickest and best way to smash Japan, because the Superfortresses will play the same role in wrecking Japan that the B-17's and B-24's played in pulverizing Germany from the air," declared General Knudsen, director of the AAF Air Technical Service Command.

Knudsen asserted that the speed-up in B-29 production can be accomplished by approximately 125,000 workers in the 11 northeastern states comprising the command's eastern procurement district.

"We need more B-29's than ever before," Gen. Knudsen said. "Every manufacturer of B-29 planes and parts must intensify production. Every B-29 worker must work a little harder. The need for B-29's is vital, because they provide the quickest and best means to smash Japan."

Twelve manufacturers making parts for the Superfortresses in Philadelphia are: General Electric Company, Machine and Designing Company, Bendix Aviation, George K. Garrett Company, Struthers Dunn, Inc., Henry Diston and Sons, Inc., E. F. Houghton and Company, Rohm and Haas, Nice Ball Bearing Company, SKF, Linear Packing and Rubber Company, and International Resistance Company.

One Dead, Eighteen Injured In Bus Crash At Arnold

ARNOLD, Pa., Jan. 29.—(INS)—Eighteen persons today were recovering from injuries sustained in a bus crash which took the life of Mrs. Bernice Esser of Arnold, when the brakes failed to hold and the bus rolled more than 10 blocks down a sharp grade.

William Cathers, 24, of Braeburn, driver of the bus, who was pinned under the wheel for almost an hour and suffered a crushed knee and ankle, told police he shouted to the passengers:

"Sit still and get ready for a crash."

Three of the injured were reported in serious conditions by attaches of the Citizens' General hospital, New Kensington.

Police reported that the bus crashed into the rear porch of one house and careened to one side, only to smash through the side of an adjacent house.

New Carrier Is To Join Fleet

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The U. S. Annetam 27,000-ton aircraft carrier is a full-fledged fleet today, following commissioning exercises at the Philadelphia navy yard.

Command of the vessel was turned over to Capt. James R. Tague of Flemingsburg, Ky., who is the first person born in Japan ever to command a major U. S. warship. Capt. Tague was born at Kobe.

The sleek, 850-foot carrier has a capacity of about 30 fighters, dive-bombers and torpedo planes, and will have a speed of approximately 30 knots.

Research Projects Needed For State

Department Of Internal Affairs Issues Warning That State Must Be Alert

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Pennsylvania must stay alert if the state is to continue as the nation's leading mineral industries state, the Department of Internal Affairs warned today.

The blunt statement was made in a 250-page publication correlating information about the commonwealth's mineral resources. The report was designed to aid state and local official blueprint post war programs.

"Unfortunately, neither resources nor initial advantages last forever," the report stated. "The very fact that Pennsylvania got off to such an early start in her mineral industries brought its own penalties."

"Our coal resources, though still very great are more nearly depleted and in many cases more expensive to mine than are those of states further south," it was asserted. "Our oil industry is long past its flush stages."

"Even the advantage of our location is declining. The country's center of population is moving westward and the growth of population and of industrial development in the center and southern states is a dangerous sign."

"These areas have lower costs and large resources that are just beginning to be developed," the report asserted. "If Pennsylvania is to hold her place as the leading mineral industries state, extensive research coupled with increased application of technical skill will have to make up for declining natural advantages."

Chicago Hotel Fire Does Small Damage

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(INS)—About 25 guests fled from their rooms in the Stevens Hotel early today when fire swept through one of the rooms and part of the corridor on the 24th floor.

The blaze was attributed to a smoldering cigarette. Damage was estimated at $1000.

(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—You are well aware that the New York Yankee ball club and its farm holdings have been sold to a syndicate composed of Col. Larry MacPhail, Dan Topping and Del Webb but today we are able to add these further facts:

(1) Ed Barrow, who built the Yanks into a baseball empire, also has disposed of his 10 per cent interest in the club.
(2) Despite all the kind words being handed out in Barrow's behalf, the new boss of the Yanks is MacPhail.
(3) Topping will transfer his Brooklyn football franchise in the National league to the Yankee stadium with the sanction of the N. Y. Giants football club, which, of course, will be forthcoming.
(4) This move is a blow to Branch (Dodgers) Rickey's efforts to get hold of Topping's football club.
(5) In effect, it also is a death blow to the three new contented football league efforts to get in on the ground floor here.
(6) The Yankees chain will be continued with all its personnel intact, which means that George Weiss will continue to run it under his new five-year contract and that Kansas City and Newark will run under their current managerships.
(7) We have MacPhail's word for it, that Barrow will represent the Yanks in naming a new baseball commissioner.
(8) We also have his word that he and Barrow see eye to eye in baseball policy, particularly in regards to night baseball, to which Barrow has been unalterably opposed.

MacPhail As President
MacPhail has said that he himself will be elected president and general manager of the Yanks but that Barrow will continue with the organization "at least as long as his health permits as chairman of the board of directors."
That is nice polite, diplomatic language but what it actually means is that MacPhail will let Barrow run the club as usual until he (MacPhail) learns the ropes when Barrow will promptly be given the old heave-ho onto the nearest shelf.
Tom Gallery, the old coast promoter, who has been running the football club for Topping, revealed some amusing details of Rickey's efforts to get that franchise for the Dodge ball club. Topping turned thumbs down on Rickey and rebuked his efforts to buy the Yanks.

Byrd Winner In Texas Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 29.—(INS)—Sammy Byrd of Detroit, former New York Yankees outfielder, took with him from San Antonio today not only the first prize of $1,333 in war bonds for winning the Texas open golf tournament, but the tournament record score as well.
Byrd's 268 over the Brackenridge course shaved three strokes off the mark set by E. J. "Dutch" Harrison in the 1939 tournament, but it was only one stroke better than that of Byron Nelson of Toledo who finished in second place with 269.

NOW, GIRLS, ACT LIKE GIRLS

BASKETBALL is a rough sport—for the girls as well as the boys. In this action shot taken in New York Midge Morris of St. Simon Stock Alpines tries to dribble past Marge Petty of the Nashville Bombardiers. The visitors won, 64 to 30.

Beagle Club Members Dine

One Hundred And Twenty-Five Attend Second Annual Dinner Saturday

Members of the Shenango Valley Beagle club held their second annual dinner Saturday evening at the Sylvan Heights golf course. The members were accompanied by their wives. About 125 were present.
Harry L. Brinton was chairman and Edward H. Fritz of The News, toastmaster. The principal addresses were delivered by William Strouse, Ellwood City, president, and Harry Yeager, Volant, judge of American Kennel club events. The dinner was opened with the singing of God Bless America.
Chairman Brinton explained that the organization developed from a meeting of nine Beagle club members and it has grown steadily during the past two years. It is associated with the West Penn association which is an affiliate of the American Beagle club. The organization has a training area of 165 acres, a clubhouse and several meets have been held.
Judge Yeager, who has raised Beagles for a score of years, warned the members that not all the Beagles they raise will be winners but they must be prepared to accept defeat equally as graciously as victory. He said that because of the snow he did not believe the coming Derby would be as good as in the past because of lack of training.
He said that some of the best Beagles in the country were in this district.
Others who made brief remarks were Vice President Gerald Ammons, Secretary Howard Morrow, Thomas O'Brien, Arthur McGulick, Game Protector Frank Cohn, C. G. Scott, game protector of Ellwood City, and Bert Miles.
After the delicious dinner and the remarks, all of which were short, the members and their wives enjoyed Froggy Myers and his musical troupe, dancing and cards.

TEARFUL PROBLEM
PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—Let's hope nobody tries to apply that old saying about "Sweets to the sweet and..." For the Portland chamber of commerce is sending 50-pound sacks of onions to the governors of 46 states—omitting only Oregon and Idaho. The idea is to give the state's onion crop publicity that it is hoped will help move 2,000 cars of surplus onions. Idaho's governor was omitted because the gem state has an opinion problem too. But chamber of commerce members are just hoping nobody will take it the wrong way when the pungent sacks arrive.
Ex-servicemen are active in boxing and wrestling at Penn State this winter.

CAMPFIRE CORNER

By the time I'd emerged from the saw filer's quarters the smoke had increased in density. In fact it was all about us now. I could detect flames shooting skyward among the treetops not far away. A large blazing bough fell almost at my feet, borne by a gust of hot wind. Ashes and bits of smoking debris swept in. I noticed the engineer and fireman dipping red bandannas into a rain-water barrel and tying them about their faces. I located my partner and we followed suit, then hopped to one of the flatcars as the little train began pulling out. The straw boss evidently already had summoned everyone aboard and he wasted no time checking on whether all had responded. On our flat we found the aged caretaker, still pursing his rifle, his dog again at his feet.
Steam was up and the little rod-type engine made full use of it. Lucky we'd had to check the track on our incoming trip; there was no opportunity for that now! We made time—swaying, plunging, taking curves in stride. We were tossed about like popcorn, but somehow every wheel that left the rail slammed back again and resumed its place in the strident sympathy.
Nothing Remains
We ran the gamut of twists and turns, precarious little bridges and stretches of quivering bog, and emerged finally into cooler, clearer air, and safety. We didn't even leave a litter of logging camp miscellany to mark our trail. The caretaker and his shaggy black dog dropped off soon after we'd quitted

New Castle And Ambridge Game Is Called Off

Principal Clare Book Of Senior High Makes Announcement Today, Regarding Basketball

The scheduled Section Three New Castle-Ambridge high basketball game for Tuesday night at Washington gym, has been called off until a later date, due to the closing of the schools, as a result of the coal situation.
Announcement of the cancellation of the Tuesday game was made by Principal Clare Book of Senior High at 10 o'clock this morning. "There will not be any basketball played by Senior high until school reopens," The closing here will not affect the New Castle-Parrell game at Farrell on Saturday night, unless Farrell runs into the same conditions that exist here, Principal Book said.

Detroit Bowler Leading Classic

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—(INS)—A. Heiden 35-year-old bowler from Detroit, Mich., rolled into the lead early today in the annual Louis Petersen individual bowling classic with a total of 1,577 pins for an eight-game block.
Heiden displaced Joe Dumesic of Kenosha, Wis., who had been leading the parade with 1,549.
Other leaders were Stan Stefanic, Cleveland, O., 1,541; Don Fairchild, Dayton, O., 1,539 and Elmer Wick, Minneapolis, 1,533.

VALENTINES GO FOR GI JOE

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—(INS)—The war hasn't stopped Dan Cupid, and this year's selection of valentines enroute to distant GI Joe's, despite the absence of the usual amount of lace and trills, are none the less sentimental.
A little new are the combination pin-up valentines showing scantily clad cuties, saying "Oh say, can you see anything the matter with me?" But whether it's the home-front manpower shortage or the fact that absence makes the heart grow fonder, there appears to be a volume of valentines in store for GI Joe's.

Chance Misses Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(INS)—Frank Chance, peerless leader of the old Chicago Cubs, missed baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.
This was revealed today after a final tabulation of 247 votes cast by the Baseball Writers' association of America. The voting on the immortals is one of the toughest balloting contests of America, since three of every four votes cast must go to a candidate if his memory is to be perpetuated at Cooperstown. Chance needed 75 per cent of the votes, or 187, and just fell short.
This was the first time since the balloting started in 1936 that no candidates were elected. The three-quarters rule, designed to protect the integrity of the voting, caused a whole tribe of greats to miss out. Chance was followed by the brilliant pitcher, Rube Wadell, who captured 154 votes; Ed Walsh, 137; Johnny Evers, 134; the late Roger Bresnahan, first of the great catchers, 133 and Miller Huggins, leader of the Yanks, 133.
Others who topped the 100-vote mark were Mickey Cochrane, Jimmy Collins, Ed Delahanty, Clark Griffith and Frank Frisch.

New Castle High Tops Ford City By Score 33-27

New Castle Wins Non-League Battle Saturday Night—Andrews-Koszela Star

New Castle High school basketball team, playing a steady accurate game all the way, with a new lineup, defeated Ford City High at Washington gym Saturday night, 33 to 27.
Up affair, for the start of the second half of Section 3 with Ambridge High here Tuesday night.
Playing without Freddy Wimer, Eddie Jackson and Bill Fisher, the former two lost by graduation, the team being kept out on doctor's orders, New Castle looked impressive as they came from behind 4 to 6 Ford City led in the first few minutes and led the first period 7 to 6.
Andrews—Koszela Star
At halftime New Castle led 17 to 11, with Billy Andrews and Al Koszela dumping in points with regularity. Ford City made seven points the second period, and looked the part of a real ball club. New Castle lost the third period 8 to 7 to the visitors, but still led 24 to 21.
Coach Phil Bridenbaugh used but one sub all during the game, Billy Walls going in for Pete Stack. Owens and Whitaker got their varsity baptism Saturday night and stood up quite well, so did Walls, a sub. New Castle presented a fast passing team and looked good. In fouls New Castle made 11 out of 15, with Andrews accounting for 6 of them out of 6 tries. Ford City made 7 out of 18. Opalka, Trenchik and Smer- led the Glassers in scoring.
In the preliminary game the New Castle Junior Varsity topped Ben Franklin High 25 to 11.

TRADING SLOW IN DAY'S MARKET

Market Opens Irregular And Turns Somewhat Lower After First Hour

NEW YORK Jan. 29.—(INS)—The stock market greeted the new week today with a fractional sell-off. Trading was slow with a meager 256,000 shares changing hands in the hour compared with 321,671 in the same period Saturday.

Montgomery Ward, up 2 points Saturday, lost nearly all the gain this morning. Allied Chemical was another independently weak issue, slumping 1 1/2.

Paramount Pictures, Anaconda, Pullman, Consolidated Edison, and Standard Oil of New Jersey were off slightly.

Over Three Feet Of Snow Has Fallen

December And January Snowfall Sets All-Time Record Here, It Is Believed By Observers

If Mother Nature had not come to the rescue and melted off quite a bit of the snow which has fallen in the past two months, local citizens would indeed have a hard time getting about.

Official observation figures reveal that up to 9 o'clock this morning a total of three feet, three inches of snow has fallen in the local district. Several towns, coupled with a little rain in the meantime, have taken off some of the snow, but more than a foot of snow still lays on the level in most sections, and where there are drifts, it is still deeper.

Approximately three inches of snow fell over the week-end to add to the misery of folks who have to travel about, and set back street and highway forces who have been battling with the problem of clearing up the ever-mounting accumulation. Twenty-four inches of snow fell in December, and slightly more than 15 inches has fallen so far this month.

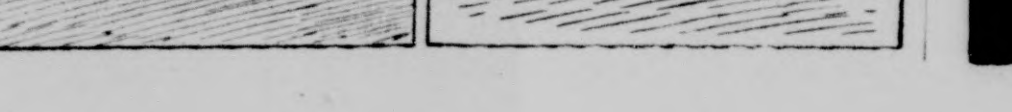

A review of the weather for the past month reveals that it has snowed 23 out of the 29 days of January.

Coroner Probes Ellwood Death

Coroner T. F. Nugent was called to Ellwood City this morning to investigate the death of Antonio Macioni, aged about 40 years, of 204 Division avenue, who succumbed in the Ellwood City hospital about nine o'clock this morning from the effects of poison, which he is said to have taken on January 20.

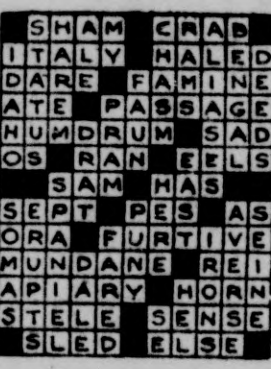

The body has been removed to the Patton funeral parlors in Ellwood City, and arrangements are pending for his funeral, awaiting a search for relatives of the deceased.

Vent Lessens Danger Of Inverted Flying

TOLEDO, O. — (INS) — Upside down flying by American aviators, while fighting Nazis and Japs, has been made less perilous.

An ingenious valve vent which seals the cells of batteries in military aircraft while the plane is flying in a banked or inverted position, yet allows for perfect functioning, has been developed by the Auto-Lite Battery corporation, it was announced today.

The valve vent closes to eliminate the danger of spilling corrosive acid while the plane is in any position but normal, and automatically opens the instant the plane returns to a position where the acid cannot escape. Hydrogen and oxygen gases which accumulate while the battery is charging are thus allowed to exhaust without loss of vital acid.

SILK HATS NEEDED

BALANCE GRAIN MIXTURE FOR DAIRY PRODUCTION

To meet increased demands for milk and dairy products efficiently dairy grain mixtures should be balanced. All feed mixtures should be balanced to obtain the best and most economical results.

Milking cows need feed with a balance between protein and other necessary factors in the ration. To obtain this balance, the protein may be varied according to the kind, quality, and amounts of roughage being fed.

For a balanced ration that will keep cows producing efficiently without lots of extra grain, the following combinations may be used:

Feed 14 to 16 per cent crude protein grain mixture with hay that is largely alfalfa or clover. Feed 18 per cent crude protein grain mixture with mixed hay. Feed a 20 per cent crude protein grain mixture with non-leguminous or poor roughage.

Many dental authorities say to select a tooth brush with two rows of tufts which are all the same height and a brush that is not too large. Before using a new brush, put it in salt water for several hours to set the bristles and take away some of the stiffness. About once a week cover the wet brush with salt to help kill germs and keep the bristles in good condition. Wash off the salt before using the brush. Place tooth brushes in a rack so that one brush does not touch another and put them in the sunlight if possible.

Correct brushing of the teeth is important. Authorities say to brush the teeth the way they grow—down on the upper teeth and up on the lower teeth.

STUDYING BUDGET

The commissioners have given part of the past several days to a study of the budget which has been presented. Some adjustments will probably be made in the budget but even with some minor deductions the general budget looks to be due for a one mill increase. It is also possible the institutional budget may carry a levy this year. For 1944 the commissioners levied no millage for institutional purposes, all the 2 1-2 mills being for general purposes.

For the past six years there has been an annual reduction of tax millage and for the past two years part of the general expense came out of the surplus which had been built up. The surplus is about done now and this year's levy and other income will have to carry the expenditures.

ALASKA ASKS PROBE OF ICKES' POLICIES

JUNEAU, Alaska, Jan. 29.—A demand that the "principles of the four freedoms of the Atlantic Charter" be applied to Alaska as well as to foreign countries was passed by the Territorial House of Representatives in a memorial to congress.

It asked immediate investigation of the land policies of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. It asserted Secretary Ickes, while publicly voicing a desire to aid in populating the territory and in developing its resources, had withdrawn large areas of land and water from the public domain and "created such a condition of confusion and uncertainty among the people that we Alaskans no longer know who owns the ground beneath us."
